

Shortstop Scott Aids Team When Making Record

Philadelphia, April. 26.—Everett Scott, Boston shortstop, celebrated his new-record for consecutive games participated in by hitting a home run with Melniss on first, culminating a batting onslaught which decided today's game with Philadelphia in the fourth inning. The final score was 9 to 0. Boston bunched eight of its ten hits off Perry in two innings. Scott to-day played his 534th consecutive game, starting again.

The previous record of 532 runs straight was held by Luderus, first baseman of the Philadelphia Nationals. Actually Scott had previously outscored Luderus through participation in "World's Series" games in two years, when he was to be the highest fielding average for the short stop playing the full season in the major league. His mark of .978 made him the best short stop in the league in 1918 and 1919 in the highest record, "Tuck" Turner's average of .979 in 1910 being the best previously in the American League and .958, Joe Tinker's record at short stop in Cincinnati, being the best in the National League.
